Protection.

We find the article below in our exchanges, without any credit attached to it. It strikes us as being thoroughly illustrative of the principle of protection as understood in the down East States, and was probably written for that latitude. The reader will find instruction and entertainment in its perusal.

"Protect me," is the imploring cry of a comfortable, well-fed, well-clad personage, whom, at first sight, one would hardly take for a beggar.

"Protect me! I own but 10,000 acres of land in the world. It is my all.

It is full of coal; but the Englishmen and the Nova Scotians have got coal, too, and they offer to sell it cheaper than the price I want. Shut out this foreign coal and protect me, an American laborer." He looks even less like a laborer than like a beggar.

"What makes coal so dear, when the weather is so dreadful cold? God help us poor!" come from between the chattering teeth of a toil-worn, care-worn, shivering woman, as she measures with stony eye a scanty fresh supply of fuel to her waning fire. No cry from her to Government for protection. No protection to her from the greed of the strong,

the cunning, the avaricious. "Work for yourself. Work or starve. Self-help. Every one for himself. If Government gave bread or clothes or fuel to the poor, it would demoralize them. Take better care of the pennies you earn. Lay them up in summer for a wintry day." Such are the answers she would get if she asked for protection—if she turned beggar.

No chance for her to put in a replication. The voices of the coal-owners are mighty to drown hers. If she could be heard, she would say, "How can I lay up my pennies when the strong arm of Government takes them from me, day by day, as fast as I can earn them, and hands them over to my richer neighbors? On every spool of thread I buy, Government takes from me a penny or two to pay over to the Woonsocket Factory Company, so that they make dear thread and big dividends. On every garment I wear, it takes pennies and shillings from me wherewith to fill the purses of the rich men who make cloth and stockings and shawls, and who cannot be content with less than fifty or one hundred per cent.

increase of their wealth every year to pay them for making dear clothes for the American laborer. When I buy a stove or a pair of scissors, I must pay some of my hard-earned pennies

"Well, I can't tell the story exactly; but the tongue man made it all out clear. I think he said, too, that wool wouldn't grow on our sheep unless they were protected."

"Well, John, you don't mean that they kiver our American sheep with blankets to make their wool grow, and that's the reason blankets are so scarce and dear?"

"Well, I don't know about that; but he made out that the sheep must be protected to get the wool, and then the men who made the wool into blankets must be protected; else we'd have to use the cheap foreign blankets, and then, he said, we'd be worse off."

"John, don't you think the tongue man was pulling some wool over your eyes? If I could get two blankets instead of one to keep the children warm, the sheep could do well enough with their natural kivering. It seems to me that we poor folk, what don't have any natural kiver of wool growing on our backs, want protection more than the sheep."

"Well, that's just what Deacon Welloff says; he says these high prices protect us as well as the sheep; and you know the Deacon subscribes a good deal of money for the poor."

"That's all true, John; but then the Deacon don't seem to get any poorer for all he gives away; and the Deacon has got a good many sheep of his own; and whatever is good for his sheep must be good for the Deacon's own pocket; and they do say that he owns part of a big blanket factory down in Rhode Island, and so, maybe, the Deacon wrongs us poor folk out of ten dollars and then gives us back one dollar of it in charity; maybe, if the poor had cheap blankets and cheap clothes, they wouldn't want any charity. You can't make me believe we're any better off for having only one blanket, when, if they were cheaper, we might have two."

The parable of Dives and Lazarus might be useful reading for those who are getting fat dividends from coal mines and factories.

A Bold Suggestion.

The following, from the Washington Constitutional Union, irrespective of the merits of the suggestion, fearfully illustrates the extremes to which radicalism has brought the country:

For several years past, we have frequently declared that the ultimate object of the radicals was the disfranchising of all Democrats, and the enslaving of all men who did not agree with them politically. Judging of the future from the past, and from a knowledge of the character of the radical leaders and of the nature of their pet theories, we clearly saw and predicted this. Having reached a point where they think they can safely advance to this new position, they are beginning to declare their intentions. Every man who is a Democrat will be disfranchised within ten years, unless radicalism is checked.

The question is how to check it. If the traitorous fanatics of that party persist much farther in their treasonable and nefarious designs, war will be the result. But the Democratic party, unheeding our repeated warnings for years past, has neglected to organize and discipline its ranks. "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty," and for some time past it was simply vigilance to be armed and prepared for the worst. Had the Democratic party been regularly organized, disciplined, armed and ready to take the field at a moment's notice in defence of the Constitution, radicalism would not have been half as formidable, nor half as reckless.

To avert being reduced into a condition of perfect slavery—perhaps sold like negroes; certainly liable, as we have been, to be imprisoned without cause, and murdered with process of law—the Democratic party must organize itself into an army, with the discipline and drill of an army drawn up before the enemy! It is absolutely necessary! If we do so at once, we can save the Republic. If we do not, then farewell to all free government.

Death has been very busy during the month of January among the aristocracy of England. The Marquis of Exeter, popular as a statesman, sportsman and gentleman for half a century, was buried within a few days of the Earl of Kingston. On the day a beautiful young daughter of Lord St. Vincent was buried, the old Countess of Mayo—mother of the Chief Secretary for Ireland, Lord Nass—died; and, on the 27th, died, at the age of eighty-two, Sarah Sophia, the Dowager Countess of Jersey.

Ben. Butler should be placed on the Committee of Ways and Means, for the reason that he has such mean ways about him.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO AND NOW.

Fifteen years ago, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS was struggling into notice against the prejudices which everything new, however excellent, is doomed to encounter.

To-day, it stands at the head of all the tonic and alterative preparations in existence. Its celebrity has evoked many imitations, but no rivals. Physicians pronounce it the only safe stimulant that has ever been introduced into the sick chamber. In the hospitals of the army and navy, the surgeons find it the very best tonic for convalescents, and report it as invaluable for sustaining the vigor of troops on the march, as a remedy for scurvy and all scorbutic affections, and as the only specific for sea-sickness. California and Australia have emphatically endorsed it as the Miner's Medicine par excellence, and in Spanish America and all the tropical climates, it is considered the only reliable antidote to epidemic fever.

There is no mystery about the causes of its success. It is the only stomachic and alterative in which are combined the grand requisites of a mild, pure and invigorating vegetable stimulant, with the finest selection of tonic, anti-bilious, anti-scorbutic, aperient and depurative herbs, plant roots and barks that have ever been intermixed in a medicinal preparation.

It is also proper to state that the Bitters are sold exclusively in glass, and never, under any circumstances, by the gallon or the barrel. Impositors and imitators are abroad, and the only safeguard the public has against them is to see that the Bitters they buy bear the engraved label and note of hand of Messrs. Hostetter & Smith, and the Government stamp over the cork of the bottle.

PROCLAMATION!

By his Excellency JAMES L. ORR, Governor of South Carolina.

WHEREAS information has been communicated to this Department that a series of outrages have been perpetrated on sundry persons, white and colored, in the Districts of Laurens, Greenville, Anderson and Abbeville, by three desperate outlaws, to wit: — Brown, known as Texas Brown, by — Sullivan, of Laurens, and by — Burkett, alias Burkhead, alias Wallace, wherein the lives of many persons have been threatened and the property of others pillaged; and whereas it has been represented that Elias Brown, a freedman, has been murdered by the two former; and whereas the said Brown committed an assault and battery on the person of Lewis Clark, a freedman, with intent to kill, at Cokesbury, S. C.; and whereas the said Brown, Sullivan and Burkett, alias Wallace, perpetrated a daring robbery upon Jessie French, a citizen of Greenville, S. C.; and whereas the said Brown and Burkett assembled with intent to kill, sundry citizens of Anderson District; and whereas these desperate outlaws have committed other acts of rapine, plunder and outrage, and have thus far eluded and avoided arrest by the civil authorities for their manifold crimes:

Now, know ye, that I, JAMES L. ORR, Governor and Commander-in-Chief in and over the State aforesaid, do hereby offer a reward of NINE HUNDRED DOLLARS for the arrest and safe delivery of the said Brown, Sullivan and Burkett in any jail in this State, or THREE HUNDRED DOLLARS for either of them.

All Sheriffs, Constables, Magistrates and all other officers of the State, civil and military, are hereby commanded and required to use every exertion to secure the arrest of the parties aforesaid, to the end that the laws of this State may be maintained and these outlaws brought to condign punishment.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto subscribed my name and caused the seal of the State to be affixed, at the day of February, this twenty-second day of February, A. D. 1867, and in the ninety-first year of the independence of the United States of America. JAMES L. ORR, Governor.

The Adornment of the Head—The Hair Restorer.

GRAY HEADED people have their locks restored by it to the dark, lustrous, silken tresses of youth, and are happy. Young people, with light, faded or red hair, have these unfashionable colors changed to a beautiful auburn, and rejoice. People whose heads are covered with dandruff and humors, use it, and have clean, cool and clear and healthy scalps. Bald-headed veterans have their remaining locks tightened, and the bare spots covered with a luxuriant growth of hair, and dance for joy. Young gentlemen use it because it is richly perfumed. Young ladies use it because it keeps their hair in place. Every body must and will use it, because it is the cleanest and best article in the market. For sale by FISHER & HEINTZSH, Feb 3 Druggists.
